Subject: Notice of Pricing Adjustment

As part of our ongoing commitment to delivering high-quality solutions and dependable service, Accurex continually monitors market conditions and the factors that impact both our business and our partners.

In recent months, we have experienced sustained increases in operating costs, including key raw materials such as steel, aluminum, and copper, along with continued pressures related to labor, freight, and fuel. Additionally, evolving geopolitical conditions have introduced further volatility in global supply chains and transportation markets. We have worked diligently to absorb and manage these impacts where possible; however, the cumulative effect now requires a pricing adjustment.

Accurex will implement a pricing adjustment in alignment with the timing provisions specific to your contract. Given the customized nature of our equipment and the variability across project requirements, the impact of this adjustment will vary by application, with most adjustments expected to range between 2% and 4%, dependent on product mix.

Any current quotes that are still within their valid time frame will be honored per the terms in place.

We remain committed to supporting your business and maintaining the level of quality, performance, and service you expect from Accurex. As always, our team is here to work with you to navigate these changes and provide guidance where needed. Please feel free to reach out to your Accurex representative with any questions or to discuss specific opportunities.

Thank you for your continued partnership and trust.

Best regards,
